

Hindolveston Parish Council
Website Management Policy

Dated 16 Mar 2017

Adopted 16 March 2017

Introduction

The Transparency Code

1. The Department for Communities and Local Government published a paper entitled 'Transparency code for smaller authorities' and by definition Hindolveston Parish Council is a smaller authority and is, therefore, obliged to conform to the code.
2. The purpose of the code, and its adherence, is to meet the Government's desire to place more power into citizens' hands to increase democratic accountability. The Transparency Code gives local people the tools and information they need to hold local public bodies to account by stipulating the documentation that must be made available, and when on a website.

Hindolveston Parish Council Website

3. To comply fully with the Transparency Code, in January 2017 the Parish Council agreed to adopt a new website and a named website manager to process the necessary information onto the website. The URL of the website's home page is:

<http://hindolvestonparishcouncil.norfolkparishes.gov.uk/>

4. The website is hosted by Norfolk Parishes and is paid for by the Norfolk Association of Local Councils to which an annual subscription is paid by the Parish Council.

NCC Privacy Policy and Terms of Use

5. As is typical of all websites run by public bodies, NCC has published a Privacy Policy which includes a Terms of Use section. First time users of the website must first accept the content of the policy as a condition of using the site. Users have the option of reading the policy at this time but a copy is posted under the 'site map' drop down menu for later reference.

Town/Parish/ Level Policy Requirement

6. Although the NCC policy covers many aspects of website use, it does not provide any guidelines on who decides what may or may not be uploaded to a site. This means that, in the absence of a specific policy, the nominated website managers (at Town/Parish level) would become the arbiters of decision making. This also leaves the Parish Council much more open to complaints of misuse.
7. It follows that for a Town/Parish website manager to be clear in the duties of the role, its limitations and expectations, he/she will benefit considerably from a locally approved and adopted website management policy. Furthermore the website manager should agree to such a policy as a condition of assuming the role.

Non-Allowable Content

12. In the event that a parishioner has cause for concern regarding the content of the Parish Council website, the parishioner to contact the website manager by email to raise the concern to try and resolve the concern at this level.
